Do you know the phenomenon of neoruralism? It is the migratory movement of today's society towards less populated areas in search of free, quiet environments with a lower level of pollution.

Zulum's Houses selects the most attractive places in Spain to develop urban projects that meet the new requirements that the new society needs. This project includes the construction of 5 single-family homes.

El Partidor, located in Abanilla in the Region of Murcia, is just 5 minutes from the town with all services (shops, health, security, educational centers, among others). In addition, the homes are located in a natural environment since they are just a few minutes from the Chicamo River for leisure and tourism.
